Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d:

Every year, thousands of accidents occur simply because drivers lose focus for a few seconds. One morning last year a man was driving through the center of the town, distracted by the shops. Suddenly a pedestrian stepped off the pavement and was struck by the car. The impact threw the person onto the bonnet before falling onto the road, where a faint trace of blood marked the dust- a heart breaking and distressing reminder of the accident.

A few minutes later, the police arrived and made a report. 'One person killed, one car damaged in road accident.' However, who was the victim? A mother out shopping, a father returning from work, or a student on her way to university? This was one of many tragedies that could have been avoided if people had followed three simple rules: first, concentrate; second, think ahead and third, use clear signals to communicate their intentions to others.

A driver loses control whenever attention drifts — whether to the scenery, to conversation, or to thoughts unrelated to driving. To avoid accidents, drivers should anticipate potential dangers — not only reacting to what is happening but also predicting what might occur next.

Finally, drivers must clearly warn other road users of their presence and intentions. If they turn, change lanes, or overtake without signaling or giving proper warning, they may at best alarm others or at worst, cause a fatal accident. Responsible driving depends on three essential habits: concentration, foresight, and communication. Following these simple principles can prevent countless tragedies.

'Macbeth, Act 1, Scene 1 – An Open Place. "Thunder and Lightning." I knew that the first scene of 'Macbeth' happened during a thunderstorm so I was not surprised when bright lights and loud noises filled the theatre. The next scene was quieter. Old king Duncan came on and he heard from a soldier how bravely Macbeth had been fighting against enemies of the king. Duncan did not know yet that Macbeth was going to kill him and I was not going to tell him because then they would have to change the play.

While I was thinking about this, I noticed a man in strange clothes standing in the aisle next to me. I assumed he had come late and was waiting to get to his seat. 'Excuse me,' I whispered. "Do you want to get past? Is your seat in this row?" The strangely dressed man did not answer. I stood up and said 'Excuse me! A little louder. 'Sit down!' said the person sitting behind me. "God save the king." The man in the aisle shouted suddenly and ran towards the stage. That was embarrassing, as I suddenly understood why he had not said anything. He was in the play! Oh, dear I wanted to hide under my seat.

At the end of the third act there were lots of battles and fights, then there was an interval. 'Very good'. said Dad. 'Very interesting.' 'Isn't it exciting?' said Mum. Dina was too busy with an ice-cream. After the interval people came into the play from every part of the theatre. In one battle scene soldiers were running all over the place fighting all the time.
